Sanford City Commission Unanimously Votes Against Proposed Fire Assessment Fee

At last night's City Commission meeting on September 8, the Sanford City Commission unanimously decided not to move forward with the proposed fire assessment fee, following heartfelt input from a packed room of concerned residents.

The proposed fee had been under consideration since October 2024 as a potential measure to secure future funding for the Sanford Fire Department. After extensive analysis and public notice throughout August 2025, the Commission carefully evaluated multiple factors, including community feedback, the immediate needs of the fire department, and the impact of recent tax increases across Seminole County.

Ultimately, the Commission concluded that implementing the fee at this time was not in the best interest of the community.

The City of Sanford thanks everyone who attended the meeting, shared their perspectives, and remained actively engaged in the process. Your voice matters and plays a vital role in shaping the future of our city.
